PUBLIC VERSUS PRIVATE REPORTS

The primary change in reporting is the number of available public reports.

In Tatum’s instance of SFDC, all of leadership and the AAAs were able to create individualized reports for their market or segment. These reports could be saved publically so that any person could run them with the same parameters. Likewise, leadership and AAAs were able to edit and save these public reports, as well as delete them. This led to a proliferation of public reports and folders and difficulty locating reports.

In the new instance, all publically available reports have been created by the SFDC administration team and saved in distinct groups of reporting “Categories”. This team has also created some generic Tatum reports, which have been saved in the Tatum Reports folder:

In the new system personal reports are used to keep from accumulating reports in the public area.

- 1) Any user can create a report and save it in the “My Personal Customer Reports”
- 2) Users can also copy public reports, modify them to the add or remove columns, and then save the reports to “My Personal Custom Reports”
- 3) Only the user can run the reports in “My Personal Custom Reports”
  - a. This means that one user cannot design a report and then save it so another can run it
- 4) Users cannot schedule a report to run and be emailed automatically, which was not a commonly used feature

REPORT DATA HIERARCHY

All results that are shown in a report are based on the market hierarchy, which makes it easier to drill down to market levels. This hierarchy also forms the basis of the “My Team” filters found throughout Salesforce

- The hierarchy at Tatum is based upon the regional structure
- Healthcare and private equity reports will be run as national reports using account level codes to identify appropriate content
- If you have a regional role, your team and hierarchy would consist of all individuals who have roles either at the region or subordinate market.
- If you have a market role, your team would consist of all individuals who have roles at that market

EXAMPLE someone who has a role of Southeast Region would see a “team” consisting of the Atlanta, Carolinas, Nashville, Orlando, South Florida, and Tampa markets:

- This hierarchy allows you to “drill down” to get to the details at the market level
- This hierarchy is also used for forecasting and analytic purposes
- Regardless of place in the hierarchy, all Tatum full license users can see all opportunities regardless of location

PROCESS CHANGES & HOUSEKEEPING

As a reminder, the request to convert a lead into an account takes 24-72 hours. You will receive an email from the Salesforce administration team when this is complete.

All requests for new licenses or to deactivate licenses should go through the Knowledgesphere HR User Authorization Request (UAR) procedure.

If someone's previously active license is deactivated due to lack of use (which will happen after 30 days without logging in), please email SalesforceAdmin@spherion.com to get it reactivated

If you need contacts moved to another owner, please send the information and request to SalesforceAdmin@spherion.com

If you need a contact merged, please send the request to SalesforceAdmin@spherion.com
